Halal Certificate

We hereby confirm that we have visited the Seafood Flavours Company, Foodparken 7, DK-7900 Nykøbing Mors, Denmark on the 12th of November 2008 to inspect the production line at the factory for producing a powder based on clams. The powder will be used for soups or other food-items.

We went through the entire production from the intake of the basic material – clams from natural source – until the end product being a concentrated powder produced from the boiling water of the clams. No haram additives are used in the product. No part of the process of production is haram, as we saw on the above date.

We therefore confirm that the entire production process and the product is halal according to Islamic principles, and that the product being produced under the same circumstances as we saw at our visit are perfectly halal. This certificate is valid as long as the production remains unchanged. In case of any major change in production form or contents, we will need to re-inspect the production line again.
